FULL BIO

Jennifer Hirshon is a vice president at Dezenhall Resources, where her strategic acumen and keen eye for detail shine. With a focus on navigating the complex online landscape, emerging technologies, and creative opportunities, Jennifer provides invaluable strategic counsel to clients and Dezenhall management.

Her expertise extends to online marketing and communication initiatives, ensuring that brands effectively engage with their audiences in the digital realm. But that's not all—Jennifer also oversees billing and vendor management, ensuring seamless financial operations within the firm.

Jennifer's journey with Dezenhall dates back to 1995, when the firm was then known as Nichols-Dezenhall. During her tenure, she has served in various administrative and financial capacities, contributing to the firm's success.

When she's not immersed in the world of strategic communications, Jennifer enjoys the tranquility of the Maryland suburbs, where she resides with her husband, Russ, and their canine companions: Pippa the Doodle and Hendricks the Cavalier. Jennifer is a longtime St. Jude Children's Hospital volunteer and serves on the DC Gala event committee. And if you happen to wander the misty glens of Scotland, keep an eye out—you might spot Jennifer visiting family.
